From August 28 to September 7, 2020, the SouthStrong campaign surveyed Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) participants in 12 Southern states. The surveys used to collect the data shared in this report were written and analyzed by the Southern Economic Advancement Project (SEAP), and the conclusions and calls to action belong to SEAP and their SouthStrong COVID-19 recovery campaign.

The data analyzed here rely on self-reported information from 2,308 anonymized surveys. Respondents were invited to answer a mixture of multiple choice and open-ended questions about challenges and changes in the wake of the pandemic, experiences using and applying for government benefits, and recommendations and requests for policymakers. Respondents were invited, but not required, to share their first names to be attached to quotes you see here.

The surveys were administered by Propel (www.joinpropel.com), the operators of a financial services app, Fresh EBT(www.freshebt.com). Fresh EBT, used by over 4 million households, is a smartphone app available at no cost to SNAP participants to track and manage SNAP and TANF benefits. The survey, designed by SEAP, was made available through Fresh EBT to randomly selected individuals who opened the app between August 28 – September 7, 2020, in Alabama, Arkansa, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, and West Virginia.
SUMMARY OF FINDINGS

Finding #1 Food insecurity and job loss have been top challenges in the pandemic.

Finding #2 Government aid made a real difference for many…but much of it has expired.

Finding #3 Help with food, housing, and utilities are needed now.

CALL TO ACTION

State and local leaders still have millions of dollars in CARES Act Coronavirus Relief Funds. They have until December 31st to spend the funds. Families need that aid now! Contact your governor, county commission, and mayor to let them know you want them to spend Coronavirus Relief Funds on housing, utility, and food assistance.

FINDING #1: FOOD INSECURITY AND JOB LOSS HAVE BEEN TOP CHALLENGES IN THE PANDEMIC.

59% of respondents have had trouble buying enough food at some point during the pandemic. That struggle was the most frequent challenge across racial groups and in every state. Job loss was the second most frequent challenge overall; however, in several states, child care issues were higher than job loss among challenges. In open-ended responses, these struggling Southerners talked about the burden of higher food prices, loss of work hours, depression and stress, car repossessions, and challenges of disability.

CHALLENGES EXPERIENCED SINCE THE PANDEMIC BEGAN

- Trouble Buying Enough Food: 59%
- Loss of Job: 34%
- Housing Issues: 30%
- Childcare Issues: 29%
- Healthcare Issues: 27%
- Pay Cut: 21%
Finding #1 Continued

Half of respondents have had problems applying for or receiving at least one type of assistance (UI, stimulus check, SNAP, P-EBT, Medicaid). Unemployment insurance and stimulus checks were the most challenging to receive overall, but there was variation across states. Black Southerners had higher shares of difficulty with UI, and white and Hispanic Southerners reported greater difficulty receiving stimulus checks. Challenges included busy phone lines, no responses from agencies, difficult websites, long wait times (weeks and months), and one benefit causing ineligibility in another benefit.

Families with children are at a complete loss because at least one parent must remain home to care for the kids but that is a huge hit in income with nothing to replace it.

Took over 2 months to get approved which caused me to get 2 months behind on rent. Therefore, I almost got evicted.

...THE IMPACTED
Finding #2: Government aid made a real difference for many...but much of it has expired.

In spite of challenges applying for or receiving certain aid, 58% of respondents said programs or assistance made a real difference for them and their family in managing the pandemic. SNAP was the most frequently mentioned program, which is not surprising since all respondents received SNAP benefits and those benefits continue today.

Beyond regular SNAP benefits, the most helpful aid was

- Unemployment Insurance
- Stimulus Check
- P-EBT
- Extra SNAP {Max Allotment}
- Utility Assistance
- Medicaid
Stimulus checks were one-time, and the extra $600 weekly unemployment insurance has expired. P-EBT and extra SNAP are expiring soon. The low levels of some benefits—particularly UI weekly benefits—were mentioned by many, especially in Florida.

Family and friends are a source of support for about half (55%) of these struggling Southerners. Only one-quarter (24%) reported receiving help from nonprofits, charities, or religious organizations.

Black Southerners were less likely to say programs made a real difference for them and more likely to rely on friends and family than other racial/ethnic groups:

- Government programs made a real difference
  - Black: 54%
  - Hispanic: 63%
  - White: 64%

- Received support from friends/family
  - Black: 59%
  - Hispanic: 50%
  - White: 52%

SNAP: We never went hungry.
- SG in South Carolina

UI & P-EBT: Definitely unemployment when they were doing the extra $600. While I was getting it, I was able to catch up on bills. P-EBT helped as well so I could put food on the table.
- Dnai in North Carolina

...THE IMPACTED
Overwhelmingly, these struggling Southerners said they cannot pay for housing, electricity, water, and food. They spoke again and again of job loss, cutbacks in work hours, higher food prices, rent increases, and higher utilities due to being at home more. Covid-19 support and relief was the top concern by far in every state and across every racial/ethnic group. In open-ended responses, the most frequent requests were another stimulus check, rent and utility assistance, and the continuation of extra SNAP benefits.
